I believe that the death penalty is a good thing, With bigger crimes that are outrageous, this needs to be used. Especially if someone kills another person. The death penalty should be the punishment for people who do horrific crimes. Its the situation "an eye for an eye", if they killed they deserve to be killed too. We shouldn't have to pay millions of dollars to let a criminal live there life, even if it is in jail. They committed a major crime, and they need to realize what they did was wrong, and so wrong that they deserve to be put to death for it.

Also when there is a family member killed it is really hard on the family, so when they find the killer, it is easier on the family, especially when they get sentenced to death. It allows the family to have closer, and not have to worry about that person, getting parole, or escaping from jail. The death penalty is a good thing to have even if it isn't used. It is nice to at least have an option on what you can do to a criminal. So therefore i believe that the death penalty should stay an option in Montana's laws.
